Hi John,

You're receiving this email because a past candidate felt that you "ghosted" them unfairly. They wanted to let you know that so hopefully it doesn't happen to future candidates. We also wanted to let the candidate share their experience in their own words:

Hi John, after I applied for the position you posted of asst. account manager early this year, I had 3 rounds of what I thought were really productive interviews. I was really excited...in fact I thought I'd get the job! Unfortunately, I never heard anything back, no reason, no feedback, even though I followed up with you more than once! I was so disappointed and unprofessional, I just thought you should know. I hope other candidates are treated better. Best of luck.

That's it! We hope this is valuable as you refine your hiring processes. Thanks!

From,
The GhostReply Team
